

Member feedback: Attack on Leningrad.

Sixty one people voted. The breakdown and comments are listed below.

'Excellent': 18 votes

- Much needed image of the Human condition. Total war
- Very enjoyable
- Wonderful story on an epic scale
- It showed the horrors of war & what the people suffered

'Very Good': 20 votes

- Brilliant mix of grueling reportage and colour and action. Sustained atmosphere.
- Interesting, Sound poor, I guess because of DVD?
- Maybe not perfect, but it's a story that deserves to be told.
- Narrative rather broken up but very enjoyable.
- As Daden said – A film with faults, but 'gripping'.
- Interesting subject – a bit bitty, though

'Good': 7 votes

- Fascinating subject
- Very interesting but needed more focus as it seemed to try hard to cover too much

'Satisfactory': 13 votes

- An unsatisfactory box to tick for such a dramatic movie. I personally would have preferred a more Russian focused account of the siege instead of the English woman stuff.
- 45 mins too long!
- Too much Hollywood within the story
- A noble failure – but a failure, nevertheless!
- Fanciful – was it a true story? I would have preferred a documentary
- Great subject but the film itself didn't really do it justice.
- I knew nothing of this event so it is good that the film was made and shown.
- Too many side stories. Tsarky General as father ridiculous and unnecessary.

- A bit uneven with too many narrative strands. As a result it lacked focus and failed to retain my interest.

'Poor': 3 votes

- Enjoyed coming but didn't think much of the film.
- Poorly directed, could have been a great film with better editing.