- Good; the flavour was a little faint!
- Fantastic, beautiful music, heart-warming.

'Very Good': 9 votes

- Second time around it dragged a bit. But it is a lovely depiction of children in Japanese society which always seems to value them differently to Western Society. Some excellent performances from old and young.
- Engaging fantasy. Superb acting by all the children.
- Enchanting – Children's acting = excellent.
- Children were lovely. A good insight into Japanese
- Never been so aware of pace in a film. It was so well judged, it felt like life!
- Very enjoyable & wry film. Looking forward to seeing "Like Father, Like Son" next season!
- Captured childish outlook of the world wonderfully. Loved the toothy grin of the younger brother.

- A bit like a glorified home movie, - such a different society. Rather too long.
- Rather warm, fuzzy rambling.
- Bit of a mess – but a charming mess.

'Satisfactory': 2 votes

- Someone's home movie? Much too loooong.
- Long, boring film but wonderful kids & an interesting glimpse on Japanese life.

'Poor': 0 votes

Based on the above, the film had an overall score of 3.65.
