Audience feedback: Tale of Tales

24 people voted. The breakdown and comments are listed below.

'Excellent': 4 votes

- ... if a little weird! Fantastic cinematography & good score too. A treat!
- Loved every minute. Great storytelling. Visual delight. So much detail.
- Amazing!

'Very Good': 13 votes

- Ogres, sea-monsters, giant insects, old hags (masquerading as beautiful sirens), lookalike Princes & Paupers, vain queens and very un-Disney like princesses – just what every fairy tale needs.
There were times that the soundtrack was out of sync, which became distracting.
- Very engaging & highly entertaining
- I'm speechless! The only thing that made any sense was the title!
- Very enjoyable film, you had no idea what would happen next. I really liked the cinematography.
- Wonderfully filmed, loved the costumes, the colours, the scenery, the mythical creatures. Wildly imaginative. Adult version of Andrew Lang's fairy stories.
Also, very good soundtrack, with "let me show you..." feel. Did expect Italian & subtitles and at first thought it was dubbed with some strange transatlantic accents.
- You either love it or hate it – I loved it. We have forgotten the magic of fairy stories – music reminiscent of Harry Potter! Wonderful cinematography & great monsters & ogres.
- Charming, enchantingly shot and brutal. A proper adult fairy tale.
- I'm off to get my skin flayed! Lovable, fantastic, quirky & stylish!
- Excellent aesthetic. Great performances, permeated with lyrical magic realism & contemporary fairy tales.
- Well, well, well! Good to have some fantasy. Beautifully filmed.
- Beautifully shot – proper, unsanitised fairy stories!
- Unexpectedly interesting. Well made.
- A sumptuous visual feast – not to mention the 'food'.

'Good': 3 votes

- Enjoyable, but disappointing.
- Not quite Pasolini.

'Satisfactory': 2 votes

- One of the oddest “films” that I have seen. Not really a coherent film, more a series of scenes. A cross of genres. Not really my cup of tea, but I can see its attraction.
- Non capisco! – Get Carter!!

'Poor': 1 votes

- Unbelievable Rubbish!

Comments without a grading: 1

- No morality, no redeeming feature – music & pearls maybe?!

Based on the above, the film had an overall score of 3.74.
