Audience feedback: The Student

22 people voted. The breakdown and comments are listed below.

'Excellent': 4 votes

- Thought-provoking and most impressive because it draws out/extends the usual implications of the logic – when people argue against any of these indoctrinations.
- For those that believe the Koran preaches only violence, all Religious Scriptures have light and dark, it just depends on what parts you emphasise – 200+ years ago Christianity preached Hell and Damnation whilst Muslim was seen as more enlightened.
- A fascinating film addressing many different teenage & religious aspects.
- Gripping & compulsive watching – it's significance will become apparent, with more thought.

'Very Good': 5 votes

- Blimey. Teacher's nightmare. Scary – we're all doomed with students like that. Very thought-provoking. The biblical references that appeared every time Venya quoted something was really spooky.
- A disturbing film. Showing the power of religious extremism
- The Old Testament was written 200+ years after the events it tries to describe. It is based on faith and not facts
- Time to ban all religion??

'Good': 9 votes

- ½ hour too long. Rather unpleasant to see how people's lives can be ruined by extreme religious beliefs.
- Intriguing rather than enjoyable. I spent the last 20 minutes being concerned about the hammer.
- The Devil walks
- Lovely wallpaper

'Satisfactory': 4 votes

- Disappointing 😞
- Promising start that deteriorated into real farce.
- Different

'Poor': 0 vote

Based on the above, the film had an overall score of 3.41.
