- Fantastic film. The pacing, with the gradual reveals of each character's issues, was excellent. A film that is worth repeated viewings.
- 'Films' within films, Plays within 'Plays' – two sisters seemingly opposites, yet at times indistinguishable. What was What was real and what was simulation? Superb acting!
- Innovative film making, excellent acting. I really enjoyed it.
- A perfectly cut diamond of a film with acting of the very highest order. Simply wonderful.
- Great film.
- Blew me away! Such a realistic portrayal of a complex family with generational trauma. Amazing acting.
- Very Nordic. Fantastic performances – is life just that then. Think I need to see it again to fully appreciate it. Loved the house!
- Brilliantly acted and very believable – nice music too.
- Great film – super acting. A film I probably wouldn't have seen without the club!
- Loved it
- Dramatic version of the BBC's House Thru Time.

'Very Good': 5 votes

- Nothing like a dose of Nordic angst to remind one of a month spent watching Bergman!
- Beautiful filming. Brilliant acting. Very thoughtful.
- I found it absorbing and thought provoking.
- Terrific film, wonderful acting, great soundtrack. Further viewing will reveal more.
- Mesmerising. The crack in the home eventually mended. Not sure about choice of music – more a Leonard Cohen film?!

- Rather dark and slow for my liking.
- Rather too long and complicated.
